Greetings

Since its establishment in 1957, the Japan Quality Assurance Organization (JQA) has served as one of Japan's leading third-party conformity assessment bodies, dedicated to supporting clients' environmental initiatives. In 1999, we began hosting the JQA International Environmental Children's Drawing Contest, which has since received over 380,000 entries from more than 100 countries and regions to date.

Throughout this long journey, we have remained deeply grateful for the generous support we have received from UNICEF staff members, Japan Overseas Cooperation Volunteers of JICA, embassies around the world, parents and schoolteachers, and our co-organizer, the International Certification Network (IQNET).

Although the colors and forms of expression vary from one country and region to another, the heartfelt wish to protect our beautiful planet is shared by people around the world. JQA takes to heart the thoughts and feelings expressed by the children through their works and shares their messages with society through exhibitions held across Japan and various public relations activities.

It is our sincere wish that through this contest, the children's passion for environmental conservation and their hopes for the future will transcend national borders and contribute to the realization of a sustainable society.

Ishii Hiroaki

President

Japan Quality Assurance Organization

It is a great pleasure to extend my warmest greetings to everyone taking part in the JQA International Environmental Children's Drawing Contest. This contest offers children a wonderful opportunity to express their imagination and their care for the world we share.

Through their drawings, young artists bring to life their ideas, concerns, and hopes for our planet. Their creativity reminds us that caring for the environment begins with curiosity and grows through everyday actions.

I would like to express my sincere appreciation to JQA for its continued dedication to this contest, and to the parents and teachers who encourage children to participate. By bringing together young voices from around the world, this initiative builds understanding across borders and reminds us of our shared responsibility to future generations.

To all the young artists: thank you for sharing your imagination and your care for our planet. May your drawings inspire us all to help create the future you envision.
